

Greetings from President Mark

On December 9th the Guild was honored by the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce with their Golden Apple Award. We were recognized for outstanding service to the community by safeguarding its collective historical record. This is an esteemed honor which took us by complete surprise and for which we are very humbled. Bunny Gillespie and I were dinner guests of the Chamber and accepted the award and commemorative certificates on behalf of the Guild.

We are very grateful for two recent generous grants directed toward enhancing our museum exhibits: $250 in November from First National Bank of Northern California, and $1,000 in December from the Carl Gellert and Celia Berta Gellert Foundation. Thank you to Dana Smith, our 2nd VP, for preparing our grant requests.

We want to thank everyone who has renewed their 2011 membership thus far. We are doing very well, and the renewals continue to come in. We have enclosed a member response card and return envelope for your convenience for those who have not yet renewed. We value and rely on your continued support.

Daly City will be celebrating its centennial year beginning in March. We are waiting to hear what the city Centennial Committee is planning and we will be sure to share any announcements.

Meanwhile, I am pleased to announce two events in January that begin the celebration of Daly City's Centennial Year, 2011. The Guild is planning a special program for our great birthday bash in January. We are not only celebrating 29 years as a vital community organization with our annual cake and champagne, but this year we will also present a special Centennial Music Program. And on January 8th our Secretaru Emerita and Daly City's official Historian Bunny Gillespie will host a commemorative visit to the John Daly gravesite. We hope to see one and all at these two events in January.

On behalf of our board, I want to thank all of you for your continued interest and support, and wish each of you a joyous holiday season and a happy New Year.

CENTENNIAL MEMORIES

By Ken & Bunny Gillespie, Daly City Historians

The month of January 1911 was to usher in dramatic changes for the small suburban community adjacent and south of San Francisco located in San Mateo County's supervisorial district Township One. Not the least of the changes would be the adoption by popular vote of the name Daly City. The area had been designated Township One since organization of the county in 1856. The first township extended from the county line in the north to Belmont in the southern part of San Mateo County.

"In the early days people in the Redwood City county seat called residents of the area sand hillers", according to early pioneer Robert Thornton, then 94 years young in a 1913 memoir published in the Daly City Record newspaper. Thornton continued, "We accepted the name, but retaliated by dubbing our neighbors to the south, mud stickers." In later years, Thornton remarked, "They came out of the mud and we came out of the sand, so the terms passed into history and the sand hillers and mud stickers are cemented in the bonds of close friendship."

Some fifty years after Thornton had served as a county supervisor and road director for Township One, the petition for incorporation was presented to the Supervisors at Redwood City by the attorneys Harry E. Styles and E. D. Knight, and a delegation consisting of C. W. Butler, Wm. M. Talbott, Thos. J. Mullins, Wm. J.C. Goldkuhl, Edw. Freyer, A. L. Stockton, Josephy F. Pankewicz, Z.L. Montgomery, and J. L. Brown, each wearing a beautiful satin badge inscribed: "For Incorporation - Daly City." The petition asked that an election be held to vote on formation of an incorporated city to be known as Daly City. Their action would lay to rest forever the use of Sand Hills as the appellation for what would become San Mateo County's largest municipality.

In their proposal, Mr. Styles and Mr. Knight stated that there were at least 2000 people living in the area that they were representing and that the residents wished to avail themselves of such amenities as better streets and roads, water, sewers, lights and "other utilities." The petitioners noted that the territory embraced the Mission Street, Hillcrest, Vista Grande, Wiggington, Knowles, Abbey, Crocker, Crocker Estates, Westend Homestead, and Concordia land tracts and extended from School and Price streets, near Colma, northerly to the San Francisco-San Mateo county line.

The request was granted and led to a highly significant event in Daly City's continuing history. This information was gleaned from the Redwood City Democrat newspaper of Jan. 19, 1911, and the Colma Record of January 6, 1911. K/BG

NEW BOOK ON DALY CITY HISTORY DUE MAY 23RD, 2011

Daly City Historian Bunny Gillespie and local history author and recording artist Dave Crimmen have co-authored the newest Arcadia Then and Now book on Daly City history.

Bunny is the author of previous Arcadia history books on Daly City and Dave authored the recent Arcadia book on Broadmoor Village. Arcadia's Then & Now series compares our present to our past, helping us understand local history. This new book contrasts vintage and contemporary images of Daly City as a welcomed contribution to the celebration of Daly City's Centennial Year, 2011. Bunny is a founding member of the Guild our Secretary Emerita, and a museum docent. Dave volunteers as a docent at both our Daly City History Museum and the Colma Museum.

OUR MUSEUM - TWO BUILDINGS

In 1920 the first permanent library in Daly City, the original John Daly Library at 6351 Mission Street, was situated in a small 25'x25' wood frame building. In 1938, the original one-room building was moved back against the rock quarry and expanded with a front street addition in Art Deco style. Our current museum building was the only library in Daly City for over 41 years and combines two vintage buildings.
